

Promar Offers Four New Landing Nets For Trout And Kokanee Anglers

After your rod and reel, the landing net is the most critical tool when fishing for trout and kokanee. California based fishing gear manufacturer American Maple Inc has introduced 4 new landing nets that are ideal for trout and kokanee fishing in 2011.

Under their flagship brand Promar, these new models are ideally suited for both putting trout, kokanee and landlocked kings into the cooler or releasing them with minimal impact. The latest in snag proof rubber mesh net, the LN-101R is a wooden laminated trout net with a stealthy crystal clear transparent mesh that prevents spooking the fish. The LN-10R sports a classic trout look but is armed with the latest technology in netting. The rubber bag will resist snags from even the sharpest single and treble hooks.

For bank fishing or when you need that extra long reach, the new LN-806 scoop net is the perfect tool with a 3 to 8 foot telescoping adjustable handle and a 19 inch collapsible frame. It's really a must have item for the bank fishing trout angler.

An ideal net for packing, kayaking, float tubing and shallow bank fishing is the Trophy Series Model LN-701. It has a fully collapsible frame and telescoping adjustable handle. It comes with a canvas carrying bag. The 16 by 16 inch frame has a durable snag resistant Promesh bag that's easy on fish and just as easy on snags.

Promar makes 3 larger models ideal for handling larger fresh and saltwater species. The smallest of the Promesh Performance Series, the LN-650 has an anodized black aluminum handle and frame with the new Performance Series Promesh snag resistant netting. The telescoping handle extends out to 26 inches. This 12 by 16 inch hoop is ideal for netting trout while fishing from float tubes, kayaks, and low rail boats. Two larger models, the LN-651 and the LN-652 boast larger 20 and 24 inch frames with 36 and 48 inch telescoping adjustable handles.

Pirate of the American Offers Unique Kokanee And Trout Lures

by Ernie Marlan

If you are a serious kokanee tournament angler or avid lake fisherman who targets kokanee, coho, kings and trout, I recommend that you take some time and look at the lures that Pirate of the American Lure Company are producing.

I had an opportunity to speak with Carlo Ramos, the designer and owner of Pirate of the American Lure Company and simply asked him what makes your lures different than other lure manufacturers? He replied, "the quality."

Over the past couple of years, Carlo had only been making these lures for himself and some of his friends. Once these lures proved themselves on lakes such as Lake Berryessa, Don Pedro, Pardee, Stampede and others, Carlo made a decision to launch his company, in November of 2010.

It all started because he was never satisfied with other the kokanee, coho, king and trout lures that are currently on the market. Carlo decided to take the tried and true features of the best lures on the market and with constant innovation and countless hours of building and painting he was able to produce a unique handcrafted trolling lure that will catch fish!

Another plus side is that purchasing these lures as part of your collection, won't break your bank account. The vision of the Pirate of the American Lure Company "is dedicate to recreational and avid anglers who expect the best Kokanee, Trout, Kings and Coho trolling lures on a limited budget."

With that in mind, it should not come as a surprise to you that when Carlos recently took his products to the International Sportsmen's Expo in Sacramento, the response was so great, he was completely sold out of lures by Saturday afternoon.

Pirate of the American Lure Co. products are designed to exceed expectations and deliver surprising value to consumers. Carlos spends countless hours building and painting a precise color pattern to achieve the most favorable fluorescent colors.

If you missed Carlos the Sportsman's Expo and would like to take a look at his lures, you can visit his Facebook page at Pirate of the American Lure Co. You can also check out his website at <http://www.pirateoftheamericanlurecompany> or call him anytime at 916-897-4551.

How We Improved A Lure That Needed No Improvement.

"Don't fix it unless it's broke." Heard that one a million times. Did we listen? No. Luhr-Jensen's never been a company to sit on their laurels and watch the clouds drift by. Even with our storied Kwikfish® --- the most renowned salmon lure in the history of the sport. It wasn't easy to improve it but when we applied our exclusive UV Bright finish we knew we'd done something special. Salmon after salmon tried to take it away from us. Heck, it was never broke...it's just better.
